Channel 7 joins in Bi-State Bingo hunt

by GLORIA DAVIS

The notorious "Strip 83," or "Suicide Alley" will be seen on Channel 7 television, at 5 p.m., on Monday, Nov. 9.

Although area newspapers have been stressing the rise in the amount of teen drinking — driving accidents between the states of Illinois and Wisconsin since Illinois raised its legal drinking age back to 21 in January 1980, it took the tv news media until last Friday to recognize the serious growing problem that has caused a notable increase in traffic deaths of the teens themselves and innocent adult drivers.

Channel 7 checked with Lakeland Newspapers on some of the statistics that were used in their award-winning series, Bi-State Bingo, run the first part of the year.

They then proceeded into Antioch and interviewed Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller on his department's policing of the comings and goings of the Illinois teens through his area.

The tv cameras went into Wisconsin, specifically in the area of Rocket North and photographed the traffic, including some Salem Police Dept. arrests.

The camera also caught the Antioch police making arrests during the onslaught of the returning traffic at 1 a.m.

Among the arrests made by Antioch were: two speeding; two transportation of open intoxicants and several vehicle warnings were issued.

Reports have it that there were many Antioch, state and county police cars on the Illinois side of the line to greet the returnees, especially the stream of traffic that ensued after the announcement of the tv camera's presence was made at Rocket North.

According to Lt. Tom Fisher, Antioch Police Dept., he took a trip into Wisconsin and counted about 700 cars at the various taverns during the evening.

Will 'drop gloves' over county plan

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Village Board, at a special meeting held on Saturday, Nov. 7, passed a resolution objecting to the zoning ordinance which amends the Lake County Natural Resource Plan, placing restrictions on property in the unincorporated areas of Lake County.

Antioch's Mayor Ray Toft says that the ordinance will place certain restrictions on what a owner will be allowed to do with his own property, even though he will still be paying taxes on the entire property, including any parts that might be regulated by the county.

The special meeting was called because the resolution of objection has to be into Lake County 24 hours before the ordinance is brought before the county board, a move set for Tuesday, Nov. 10.

Toft stressed that the village board was not objecting to the entire plan, but they were objecting to the way this particular phase had been handled.

The zoning committee had failed to advise the planning commission of the various municipalities in the county about the amendment, allowing them time to study it. This is the reason that the village is asking for a delay in turning the amendment into law.

Toft says that village of Antioch will be directly effected when and if it annexes any of the present township property.

In talking to neighboring municipalities, Toft reported that he found that they knew little or nothing of the amendment.

According to the mayor, Antioch Township Supervisor Jim Fields and Antioch Township Assessor Bud Holtz, both Lake County Board members, were not in favor of the amendment, especially since Antioch is surrounded by vacant property.

"The county board members, that are in favor of the amendment's passage seem to be those in the areas that are built up, therefore they will not be greatly effected by it," says Toft.

The Antioch Planning Commission had unanimously voiced its objection to the amendment at a meeting held in late October and sent a letter to the county board stating their objection. They had also asked that the village board do the same, which it did, but neither group has received any reaction from the county board to date.

Toft says that he understands that the filing of the village's objection on Monday morning, Nov. 9, will require a three-fourths majority approval by the county board for the amendment's passage.

Jerry Mahoney arrested on burglary charge

According to Lt. Tom Fisher, Antioch Police Dept., Officer Robert Lange arrested Jerry Mahoney, 19, Rte. 173, Antioch, at 2 p.m., on Sunday, Nov. 9, who was wanted on two counts of house burglary in Kenosha County.

Mahoney was sighted and arrested on Main St., near North Ave.

He was wanted in connection with the two-state burglary ring bust made by the Antioch Police Dept. at the beginning of the year, specifically a Kenosha County house burglary in Nov. 1980 and another in February 1981.

Mahoney was taken to Lake County Court on Monday, Nov. 9, pending a preliminary hearing.

On Florida warrant

Haley to face hearing for drug trafficking

According to a representative of the Northshore Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG), they received a warrant from Florida on marijuana traffic charges for Bill Haley, Antioch, last week. They approached the Antioch Police Dept. who looked for Haley in the area on Wednesday, Nov. 4; but could not locate him.

On Thursday, Nov. 5, Haley turned himself over to MEG and was transported to Lake County Court where the $50,000 bond he was being held on was reduced to $5,000.

Haley, who paid $500 cash, was released pending a hearing expected to be held within two weeks.

It is not known whether or not this warrant had any relationship to Haley's arrest, trial and subsequent release on a drug traffic charge out of San Juan, Puerto Rico on Feb. 22, 1981.

Hartog to be arraigned on homicide rap

On Monday, Nov. 2, Lake County Circuit Court Judge Harry Hartel ruled that there was reasonable evidence to call for the arraignment of Kenneth Hartog, 20, Trevor, on charges of reckless homicide, in the death of jogger, Anna Helene Kugler, 24, at 6:14 a.m., on Friday, Oct. 23.

Hartog will appear before Judge William Block on a date yet to be set.

Kugler, an Antioch High School math teacher, was struck from behind as she jogged on North Ave. by a truck driven by Hartog and pronounced dead an hour later at St. Therese Area Trauma Satellite, Lake Villa.

Hartog is also expected to be arraigned on charges of driving while intoxicated because of the results of the breathalyzer test taken after the accident and possible possession of marijuana when the laboratory reports on substance found in his possession, thought to be marijuana, are received.

Hartog allegedly had stated that he had been drinking vodka and beer and smoking "pot" in the hours previous to the accident.

Plaids a flingin', pipes a-pipein' at Scottish Festival, Antioch

The Midlothian Pipe and Drum Band held their second annual Scottish festival, at the VFW Auction Center in Antioch, on Saturday, Nov. 7.

Since the majority of those present were either of Scottish decent or simply had highlander leanings, the completely Anglican evening warmed the hearts of every lad and lassie there.

Three authentically Scotch bands: the Midlothian Pipe Band, the Medinah Shrine Band and St. Stephen's Scottish Pipe Band, filled the air with the undeniably unique sounds of bagpipes and drums.

The gay plaid of the Scottish kilts was everywhere, with pleats a-flying as the Highland Dancers from the Gilan School of Dance, Evanston, took center stage.

They even brought along their Irish cousins to do a fling or two. Meaty pasties and bridies were part of the delicious menus, along with many more authentic Scotch dishes.

The proceeds from the festival will go to help finance the trips that the Midlothian Pipe Band intends to make, entering at least 10 competitions again this year.

The pipes and drums of the Midlothian Band took a first in all 10 competitions that they entered last year, winning contests all over the United States and Canada.

They topped the U.S. Open Competition in Alma, Mich.; took a first at the Scottish Highland Games, held in Midlothian, in June and also took the Canadian championship, at Fergus, Ontario, in August.

The Midlothian Pipers having been playing together for five years and their junior band, St. Stephens, also an award-winner, was started three years ago.

Although most of the drummers for these bands are from Chicago, many residents of Lake County are involved.

Ian Swinton is the pipe major and his two daughters, Evette and Senga are pipers. The Swinton family is from Mundelein.

A Piper from Fox Lake is Trudy Steich-mann and others are Glen and Michelle Stewart from Lake Villa. Their mother, Mary, is one of the most enthusiastic of the band's boosters.

Joseph Szuberla, Antioch and Steven Scott, Antioch High School teacher, help to complete the pipe ensemble and Mary Bednar and Jean McGilivray, hail from Libertyville.

Although most of the names on the rosters of both the Midlothian and St. Stephens bands advertise their highland heritage, one of the drummers has a Japanese mother and an Irish father.

SCOTTISH FESTIVAL PIPERS — Plaid kilts were everywhere when the Midlothian, Medinah Shrine and St. Stephen's pipers all participated in the Scottish Festival, sponsored by the Midlothian Drum and Pipers Band, held on Saturday, Nov. 8, at the V.F.W. Dubas sues board in game license dispute

The Antioch Village Board was served, on Friday, Oct. 30, with the notice that Chester Dubas, owner of the Ben Franklin Family Center, had filed a lawsuit against the board in reference to its interpretation of the zoning ordinance.

Mayor Ray Toft says that he understands that Dubas is objecting to the board's decision that his store is in a B Two zone and therefore is not eligible for the game licenses he has applied for.

Toft says that he understands that Dubas' legal counsel has advised him that the board is misinterpreting the ordinance when they state that only businesses in a B Three zone can have games.

Dubas has not applied to the board for a rezoning of his business to date in order that he might turn the basement of his department store into an electronic game center.

But rezoning would not help the situation as far as Dubas is concerned since the board, at their Nov. 2 regular meeting, voted unanimously to limit the number of game licenses issued to the present active number.

At this time the village has issued 37 game licenses and the Nov. 2 action will restrict additional licenses from being issued.

If any of the present 37 licenses are turned back to the village, other people may apply for them.

A license is required for the operation of each and every electronic game, which means that there are presently 37 electronic games, including pool tables, in operation in the village and the number is destined to stay right at that figure.

The resolution was expected to be law as this paper goes to press.

Smash 6 year term

2 area school board incumbents loose

Two incumbent Antioch School board members went down for the count in the Lake County School Board election, held on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Anthony Starcevic, who served on the board of Antioch High School since 1978 and Donald Lessard, who served on the Emmons Grade School board, also since 1978, both lost their seats to newcomers.

The election drew a sparse amount of voters in Lake County as a whole, with only 12.7 percent of the registered voters turning out to cast their ballots.

Whether or not the weather had any effect on the light turnout is hard to tell, although the main part of the day was nice enough, the fog that set in early in the evening may have effected the after-work vote.

Since this was the first consolidated school board election handled by the county, the last one being under the auspices of the individual school boards, a voter-count comparison would be difficult to get, at least until the certification which must be done within seven days of the election.

The Antioch High School referendum to change the four year board term to a six year one was really squelched, with 704 electors voting no and only 188 casting yes ballots.

With two incumbents and one challenger running for the two open four year terms on the board of Antioch Community High School, Dist. 117, challenger Julie Portalski, who was defeated in the previous school board election, garnered the most votes in getting 700.

Incumbent Glen Moore won the other open seat with 621 votes.

Incumbent Anthony Starcevic lost his seat with 554 votes.

In the election to fill the two open seats, four year term, for Antioch Grade School Dist. 34, only eight votes stopped challenger James Carey, Lindenhurst, from overturning incumbent Ed Haley.

Incumbent Clint Glover received 381 votes; Ed Haley, 353 and Carey, 345.

In the race for the Emmons Grade School Board, Dist. 33, Sandra Steffenburg, who was running unopposed for the two year seat she had been appointed to, gained it with 130 votes.

Incumbent Richard Ruck kept his four year seat with 105 votes; Pamela Pierson gained the other seat with 85 votes and Donald Lessard bowed out with 80 votes.

There were six people running for two open seats on the Grass Lake Grade School Board, Dist. 36.

Incumbent Robert Mattson retained his seat with 85 votes; James Zegler outdistanced the four other challengers by almost two to one, receiving 83 votes.

John Fleshman got 39 votes; Patricia E. Sherwood, 45; Judy Hansen, 40 and Ardeen Harris, 47.

county board would need to turn the amendment into a law, a law passing restrictions that will appear on the property deed of all land presently in the unincorporated area of the county.

The vote of the Antioch Village Board was carried 4-2. Trustee Ronald Cunningham being absent and Trustee William Seeman voting against filing the objection.

"I am sure that other municipalities would be filing the same objections if they knew about it," said Toft.

PM&L's 'Giant' to open

Otis Bigelow's imaginatively offbeat play, "The Giants' Dance," opens this Saturday night Nov. 14, at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main Street in Antioch at 8:30 p.m.

The audience of first nighters will be entranced by the show's tale of magic and wizardry set in fifth century England.

This colorful and engaging play will run for two more weekends. Evening performances are set for Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 20, 21, 27, and 28.

Also, there will be a matinee next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 22. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for the evening performances, and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

Probably you should not think of "The Giants' Dance" as a children's play. Nevertheless, it is a good show for the entire family. Theatergoers might therefore be especially interested in the Sunday matinee.

often a good time for groups of all ages to enjoy a show together.

Area audiences have been making increasing use of the afternoon performance, an innovation which was launched during the last PM&L season.

Unusually action-packed, "The Giants' Dance" features strikingly colorful costumes and set, exciting sword play, breath-taking magic, subtle humor, stately kings and queens, impressive pomp and pageantry, and romantic princes and princesses.

With such a formula, "The Giants' Dance" cannot easily avoid being one more PM&L hit.

To see this unusual show, remember to call (312) 395-3055 to make your reservations, and to check in at the PM&L box office no later than 8:15 p.m. on the night, or 2:15 p.m. on the afternoon performance.

When I think about it Better judgment calls for much closer look

by GLORIA DAVIS

The fiascoes and travesties of justice that have taken place in courtrooms all over our country, especially the recent performances in local, federal, state and county halls of justice should awaken people to the crying need for drastic changes in our judicial system.

It's about time that the work of law enforcement agencies stops being a complete waste because some clever lawyer or some misguided judge puts veteran criminals back on the street after receiving little or no punishment.

Now granted some of these travesties are passed down to the lower courts by the U.S. Supreme Court and the existence of laws badly in need of changing.

With all due respect to the many fine judges that preside in our courtrooms, I still feel that much of the blame can be laid at the feet of the bench on which many judges sit, judges who are inadequate to say the least.

Again I have no patience with the legal games played by a lot of lawyers, a game that frees guilty parties on technicalities, but I guess we must chalk that up to the innocent until proven guilty by the book, but until someone comes up with a better legal system.

The thing that really gets to me is the action taken by some judges when the accused pleads guilty to a major crime, action that imposes penalties that are practically laughable when it comes to the punishment fitting the crime.

It is about time that the voters do more research before they cast their ballots in the next judicial election.

Stop and think, were you aware of the records and qualifications of all the people that you put on or returned to the bench in the last election.

For some reason judicial candidates just don't receive the publicity that most other political candidates do.

I have to admit that there have been times that I went into that curtained booth with very incomplete knowledge on these candidates.

Why is it that many of us do not acknowledge the importance of those that dispense the justice that might someday free us if we are accused and innocent?

On the other side of the coin, that same proper dispensation might remove a criminal from the streets before he does us personal harm.

How many of our judges have sat on the bench for years, slapping the wrists of the same criminals over and over again?

Do me a favor, talk to a policeman sometime and hear what he has to say about the action of our courts. Try making a spot check and ask some of your friends what they know about the judges that work out of our federal, state and county courts.

If your survey turns out anything like the one I took recently, you will find that, as far as many people know, the people sitting on our judicial benches are just names, and many don't even know these.

Most people could not tell you what these people did to qualify for the position and as far as quoting their past records, very few will be able to tell you about the disposition of even one of their cases.

When it comes to the judges that are appointed, it's time that we follow their track record and see that the power of the voters puts pressure on those that do the appointing to be more discerning in their selections.

With major crime on the climb, it's about time we use one of the best weapons we have to fight it, our vote. Let's start judging our judges!

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Congratulations to the staff of Antioch High School's Tom Tom! They have again earned a first class rating in the National Scholastic Press Assn.'s national competition at the University of Minnesota.

Every once in awhile we are reminded that things look differently through the eyes of children.

Pat Ostergaard gave me some recipes gotten when kindergarten gardeners were asked how to cook chocolate chip cookies, apple pie, spaghetti and turkey.

To them it obviously looks like this is the way mom does it. You make a turkey by first cutting the feathers and head off, slice off the fat and chop off the feet and then throw the guts in the garbage. Then put it into a 400 degree oven for two hours and 55 minutes.

To make spaghetti you buy one cup of red stuff at Chinella's, then cook one gallon of spaghetti until Batman comes on tv. When Batman is almost over, the spaghetti is almost done.

And don't these cookies sound delicious? "You can make chocolate chip cookies by first putting a big chunk of butter into a small bowl. Add two cups of water and chocolate chips. Mix, put on trays and put in oven. Cook them for three hours. Then put them in a bread bag, in a pail on the porch." (Looks like someone broke their cookie jar.)

And our last gourmet chef suggests that in order to cook the Thanksgiving bird, one must first take out the bag of meat that is inside the turkey. Then take 40 pounds of bread and let it get hard.

Take one cup of water, add it to the bread, stuff it into the turkey and put on the things that hold it together.

Not bad. I wonder if they'd mind coming over and cooking Annie Mae's Thanksgiving dinner?

Maybe the Sequoia and the Blue Devil fans that parked their cars on both sides of Rte. 173 during Saturday's big game were angry at the Antioch Police Dept. for ticketing them but I'd like to congratulate them on a move that will probably win them no popularity votes with the high school athletic boosters.

Cheering on the team is fine but this does not allow the breaking of the law, creating what could have been a dangerous situation with the congesting of a busy traffic area.

Seven Point Program outlined by auxiliary

Antioch Unit 748 of the American Legion Auxiliary authorized its annual contribution to the Seven Point Program at their recent business meeting.

Sent in to auxiliary's department office, this money is used mainly to aid hospitalized disabled veterans.

Fresh fruits, greeting cards, magazines, newspapers and candy are distributed from time to time, and special parties held.

Insulin and vaponefrin are provided to those whose financial situation makes it difficult for them to purchase this expensive medication.

The Veterans Craft Exchange, located in Chicago, is maintained to a great degree by donations from the individual units. Canteen books valued at $1 give veterans the pleasure of buying small items in the canteen.

At Easter time, a gift or canteen book is given to each veteran in hospitals, nursing homes, etc.

All these services are included in this Seven Point Program, but as we approach the Christmas season of the year, it is natural to emphasize the Veterans Christmas Gift Shops.

These shops are held in 15 V.A. Medical Health Centers, county and state hospitals.

All hospitalized veterans are eligible to choose a gift for each member of his, or her, immediate family.

The gifts are wrapped and mailed at no cost to the veteran, and with no indication that the American Legion Auxiliary was involved.

The residents of the Antioch area, might like to know that they have a part in these programs, since it is their participation in Poppy Days that enables the unit to send in their contribution.

Block, Berliant win CLC board positions

Former County Board Member Millicent Berliant of Deerfield, and Nancy Block of Prairie View won election to the College of Lake County board of trustees in the Nov. 3 school election.

David McCartney of Kildeer and Ronald Johnson of Lake Villa, did not seek re-election.

A companion referendum to change board terms from four to six years, was defeated soundly by over 9,000 votes.

If approved, it would not have affected the terms of Berliant or Block.

In a breakdown by townships, Block was the leading vote-getter in Antioch, Avon, Benton, Fremont, Grant, Lake Villa, Libertyville, Newport, Shields, Vernon, Warren, Wauconda, Waukegan and Zion Townships.

She was edged 546 to 467 in West Deerfield Township and 699 to 690 in Deerfield Township by Berliant.

In Antioch Township, vote totals went as follows: Leslie Ollie of Zion, 285; Berliant, 240; Block, 494; and Maria Cejtin of Waukegan, 232. The referendum was defeated 617 to 146.

Lake Villa Township totals were: Ollie, 105; Berliant, 107; Block, 225; and Cejtin, 89. The referendum was defeated 240 to 64.

Block, wife of Lake County Circuit Court Judge William Block, totaled 39 percent of the vote.

Block and Berliant will be seated as board members at the Dec. 7 meeting.

Yule theme contest a great school project

School classes throughout the Lakeland area are being encouraged to participate in the annual Lakeland Newspapers Christmas Theme Contest.

With competition broken down according to age groupings, there is plenty of opportunity for all ages to win again this year.

Writers who are not students are encouraged to enter as well, since there is an age group for everyone, including adults.

In the past, the Christmas Theme Contest has been a popular project with local schools. Students can complete entries according to the rules listed below. Teachers may then submit the entries to Lakeland Newspapers for judging for the contest. More information is available by contacting Gail Robinson at this newspaper. (312) 223-8161.

Entries in the Christmas Theme Contest will be accepted in three age groups. Class I will be children ages five to eight. They will draw a picture on 8 1/2 by 11 inch white paper on the theme "Christmas At My House." Drawings may be done in crayon, marker or pen.

Class II will be for children ages nine to 13. They are asked to submit a theme, 500 words or less on "The Meaning of Christmas."

Class III is for ages 14 to adult and will be a theme, 500 words or less on "What Christmas Means To Me."

First, second and third prizes will be awarded in each category as well as one grand prize. Entries are eligible to win only one prize.

Deadline for entry is Nov. 23, 1981, and entries may be dropped off or mailed to any of the Lakeland Newspapers offices.

All entries must have name, address, town, category entered and phone number on them. Themes and pictures will not be returned and all entries become the property of Lakeland Newspapers which may reproduce entries in the paper.

Decision of the judges is final and entries will be judged on originality, creativity, and neatness of presentation.

Entries to the contest must also be appropriate to the theme. Winners will be notified by mail and winning entries will be published in Lakeland Newspapers. Entries can be sent to Lakeland Newspapers, Box 268, Grayslake, Ill. 60030.

In addition to the Christmas Theme Contest, Lakeland Newspapers will once again be the leading civilian support organization working with the U.S. Marine Corps. to promote Toys For Tots.

Local merchants and residents are encouraged to donate toys for the needy at any Lakeland Newspapers office.

Sheriff's arson task force builds arrests

The Lake County Sheriff's Dept. Arson Task Force, under the direction of Sheriff Thomas S. Brown, is registering impressive statistics in helping to control one of the county's primary crime problems.

The task force, which bands together agencies involved in fighting fires and crime in a new approach to combating arson, is headed by Det. George Rose.

Statistics show that since the Task Force was established, 133 arson investigations were carried out at the request of local fire departments called to extinguish the blazes. Out of these 133 cases, 36 have been solved resulting in 72 arrests.

The arrest list includes 38 juveniles and 34 adults. The 27 per cent solve rate compares favorably to the 3 per cent solve rate for the crime of arson.

The task force consists of seven men; five from the general detective division and two from the juvenile bureau (49 per cent of all arson is caused by juveniles). The squad responds at the request of the fire departments at the time a fire occurs.

"We have the support of the Lake County Fire Chiefs Assn. which endorses our program," Brown said. "Losses to property for just the investigated arsons amount to a staggering $977,415."

Nationally, it is estimated that one-third of all homeowners insurance premium dollars go to claims for arson. In other words, if the average homeowners policy costs $300 per year, $100 would be paid directly for claims involving arson cases.

Brown stated that cooperation between police professionals and fire professionals in a combined effort to investigate fires for profit or vengeance is the key to reducing the problem.

SAVING TEETH WITH ROOT CANAL TREATMENT

Ideally, people with cavities see a dentist promptly for treatment. Unfortunately, many people wait until the decay has penetrated deep within the tooth. Sometimes they don't see a dentist until they have a toothache. In the past, if decay had reached the dental pulp (nerve), extraction was necessary. However, these teeth can often be saved with root canal (endodontic) treatment. The inside of the tooth is opened, and any remaining nerve tissue is removed. The infected material is cleaned out, and the space left behind is enlarged and smoothed. Finally this space (root canal) is filled, usually with a rubber-like material called gutta percha. These teeth still have a normal blood and nerve supply from the gums and bone surrounding them. After proper restoring, these teeth can remain painlessly in the mouth for many years.

Diamond year for orchestra founder

by CHRIS TRAXLER

Members of the Chain O'Lakes Orchestra that live in Antioch and nearby communities might be interested in knowing that Georgia Cobb, the founder and director of the orchestra, will be celebrating 75 years of youth in 1982.

Hoping, along with Cobb, that the orchestra will be able to perform at Grant High School this summer, are all 22 members of the musical ensemble.

Included in that number are Julie Sexton, Don De Vore, both of Antioch and Jane and George Oleson, both of Lake Villa.

A native Chicagoan, Cobb, a resident of Leisure Village since 1974, named a child prodigy at the age of 12 by a Chicago Tribune music critic for playing the violin, was a truly gifted ballet dancer, who delighted thousands of spectators across the United States and earned a plethora of press clippings which are contained in two large scrapbooks. Mrs. Cobb was also an accomplished pianist.

The then Georgia Ingram, performing as a ballerina, a tap dancer and a kick dancer for musical comedy received numerous favorable reviews during her years as performer such as this one from the Washington Post in 1926 after dancing the "Affairs of 1925."

"...One in particular is a find and you may identify the one I mean by the fact that she is the girl who not only toe dances, but plays the violin for her colleagues... she will go far on youthful beauty... and no small measure of the stuff is superimposed on a real performer whose spirit moves mountains of applause."

The gifted young performer was also selected as American ballerina to dance in the first Russian ballet in America in Alexander Gavrillov's "Ballet Moderne." Gavrillov was a protege of the legendary Russian ballet dancer, Nijinsky.

While obviously gifted at performing the technical skills of her craft, Cobb, through the years possessed an infectious enthusiasm and charisma which she shared with her audiences.

"You have to communicate with music and if you don't it isn't music. Music is an international language and you have to reach from the heart," said Mrs. Cobb, who has been a widow since her husband, William, a noted architect and viola player, died in 1974.

Cobb was a firm believer in the need for an orchestra in Fox Lake when she started her orchestra in November 1979, an orchestra which presently has 22 members and practices from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. every Saturday morning in the basement of the village hall.

"I started the orchestra because there was no strong orchestra for the children or adults to play in so we started our own. Western Lake County has an orchestra but eastern Lake County has nothing at all, said Cobb, whose orchestra members range in age from eight to 76.

Cobb, has given private music lessons since the 1950's, began her orchestra with seven pupils and the members of the Wolf family of Lindenhurst. The 21 year residents of Lindenhurst with 17 children, 12 of which play in the family band, "The Wolves," met Cobb after performing at Leisure Village in 1979.

"After Mrs. Cobb saw us perform, at Leisure Village, she called us and asked if any of our children wanted violin lessons and later we began performing with her orchestra. Mrs. Cobb had mistakenly bought music for a full orchestra so we brought the family over and soon we were practicing with her regularly with the family," said Nancy Wolff, who along with her husband Dick, and the rest of her family, have performed for the past four years throughout Wisconsin and Illinois.

"She (Mrs. Cobb) has been really great to the kids and gives the kids free lessons. We have enjoyed working with her and the kids have learned a lot. We try to practice whenever she needs us to show our appreciation for all she has done," Mrs. Wolff said.

The orchestra's next planned performance will be Saturday, Nov. 14 at 2:30 p.m. at the Fox Lake Library.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

As we prepare for the onset of another winter and the stress of snow, ice, and changing road conditions, I would like to sincerely thank those Antioch residents of lakeside subdivisions bordering State Highway 173 who practice the Golden Rule.

They warm up the cold, sluggish engines of their vehicles sufficiently, while they remove all ice and snow from windows for perfect visibility. They acknowledge the stop signs at 173 as safety measures for both themselves and oncoming motorists. Their good judgement tells them when it is safe to pull out and merge with highway traffic already in progress. Even if they may be leaving late for work, they put safety first and observe all of those courtesies.

I appeal to those few residents who may not always be so considerate. I want you to get where you're going on time, but not with maneuvers that endanger our mutual safety. I am the traffic already in motion on Highway 173. Please think of me too as you approach the highway each morning this winter.

Seven year sentence, fine for Holbek

by GLORIA DAVIS

Federal Judge John Reynolds, Milwaukee, sentenced Herman Holbek, 31, former Antioch resident residing recently in Camp Lake, to seven years imprisonment and a $30,000 fine as the result of his pleading guilty to 11 dope related charges and two charges of federal income tax evasion.

U.S. Attorney Charles Bohls asked for "a substantial sentence" for the reputed number three man of a multi-million dollar marijuana importing ring that had been operating between Florida and the midwest since 1973.

Serious investigation into the ring, that reportedly had brought in one out of every six pounds of marijuana brought into the country in 1978-79, began after the FBI rescued Robert Straus.

Straus, a member of the ring, had been kidnapped and held in a barn on the Wisconsin-Illinois border in 1979.

Straus reportedly started talking to federal authorities after the president of "The Business," John Steinberg, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, refused to pay ransom for him.

Steinberg and James Bell, Schaumburg, number two honcho, were tried and convicted of 10 drug related counts in a Florida Federal Court.

Their six-week trial ended with their conviction on Oct. 7, after the jury deliberated for four and one-half hours.

The two men are expected to be sentenced in the near future, maximum sentence for the crimes they pled guilty to is life imprisonment and $170,000 fine. Minimum sentence is 10 years in prison.

Ronald Wessinger, 31, Bristol, ranked just beneath Holbek, was sentenced, after entering the same plea as Holbek, to a five year prison term and a $35,000 fine by Judge Reynolds on Friday, Oct. 16. He could be released in 18 months.

Many Wisconsin residents, former couriers for the drug smugglers, were granted immunity for testifying in the cases of the top men.

In all, 19 people have been criminally charged after a two year federal investigation.

Three men charged are still at large, Peter Wagner, Kenosha, Carmen Batteglieri and Lynn Mizer, both of Florida.

Jaycees scared 2,600

The Antioch Jaycees have announced that their haunted house was a great success this year. More than 2,600 people passed through the house the nine days it was open, from Oct. 23-31.

Co-Chairmen Fred Skvarce and Ed Bakshis would like to thank the many volunteers who worked on the project along with McDonald's who donated free drink coupons.

The Antioch Jaycees would also like to extend special thanks to the State Bank of Antioch for use of its barn and parking lot for the third year in a row.

Farm women to sponsor snowmobile certification

Youthful snowmobile operators may become certified at the upcoming certification classes sponsored by the Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

Committee Chairman Pat Oaks, Wauconda, states that with the number of snowmobiles in the county increasing, the women see a need to promote safety and provide the instruction whereby our youthful operators can become certified by the state.

Oaks notes that all operators, 12 years and older, that do not have a drivers license must be certified before they can legally operate a snowmobile.

The classes will be held in Building Seven on the Lake County Fairgrounds, on Saturday, Dec. 5, beginning promptly at 9 a.m. and concluding at 5 p.m.

Registrations will be limited to 75 and will be accepted by calling (312) 223-6506. Registrants must be 12 or older to qualify for the certification.

Instruction will be given by Bud Brzostowski, a certified instructor for the Illinois Conservation Department. Registrants are asked to bring a sack lunch and a pen or pencil.

Village reaffirms industry support

In further evidence of the Toft administration's push to get more industry into the village of Antioch, thus widening the tax base, at their last regular board meeting, the Antioch Village Board unanimously voted to waive all building inspection fees for industry locating in the village for the next six months or until May 1982.

The action came after a discussion on the proposed waiving of the inspection fees on the 17,500 square foot Modern Home Factory, for which Walter Koziol, president, has just broken ground in the Sequoit Industrial Park.

This is the first of six factories that Koziol's company, Ramco Enterprises, intends to build in the area.

The village trustees approved the waiving of $2,268 in fees for Koziol.

At first, Trustee Claudette Skvarce called for the waiving of all building fees if it was to be done for Koziol and Trustee Edgar Simonson stated that he was against waiving said fees for anyone.

Toft said that giving a free ride to home builders could in no way compare to giving it to encourage industry which would bring money into the village in the form of job generation, housing starts for those employed, property taxes and increased retail spending.

The mayor said that the property taxes alone garnered from an industrial building start would offset the waived building inspection fee the first year of operation.

The board then agreed to waive inspection fees for all incoming industry till the middle of next year.

Toft says he is already talking to two more concerns interested in locating in Antioch's industrial area.
